Prepare to sell treatment bonds

By HARRY BARNES
Press-Record Staff Writer
Legal procedure to market $4,000,000 in revenue bonds to finance Granite City's share of the cost in building its proposed new secondary sewage treatment plant will be initiated immediately, Mayor Paul Schuler announced today following the award of a federal grant of 75 per cent of the plant cost.

Approval by the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency of a grant of $3,001,175 against an estimated total construction cost of $11,974,900 was announced at Washington Friday by Cong. Melvin Price (D-East St. Louis).

The award climaxes 18 months of city action to comply with a multiplicity of state and federal EPA requirements and regulations, involving dozens of meetings, hearings and trips to Springfield and Chicago by city officials.

Final grant applications were delivered to federal EPA officials in Chicago by Mayor Schuler three weeks ago.

The mayor, who described the announcement of the federal grant as "most welcome news," said he will confer early this week with Horace Calvo of Granite City who will serve as special bond attorney for the treatment plant project, to outline procedure for sale of the revenue bond issue.

Sale of the bonds to provide funds with which the city can get the construction work under way "is the next step in the project," Schuler said. The $4,000,000 bond issue approved in an ordinance enacted by the City Council in September last year provides $3 million of the amount as the city's share of the construction cost of the new treatment plant. The balance of $1,000,000 must be used to retire outstanding bonds that were issued to build the city's primary treatment plant.

In financing its part of the new project, state law required that the city refinance the balance of any outstanding bonds of a similar nature in the new issue.

According to Calvo, the bonds may be sold as soon as the treatment plant engineers, the M.W. Architects & Engineers of St. Louis, prepare a schedule of new rates that will be charged sewer users in an amount sufficient to retire the bonds. Schuler said the bond sale will be by competitive bidding.

The secondary sewage treatment plant will be built on a 20-acre tract of land at the Granite City Army Installation adjoining the city's primary treatment plant.

Approval of the grant by the federal EPA signified acceptance by both state and federal EPA officials of the plant's design at a capacity of 23 million gallons per day, a design based on the Quad-City area growth potential to 1990.

The plant's designed capacity at 23 million gallons daily was the city's foremost problem in recent months in resolving all issues with the federal and state agencies.

At one point, both the U.S. and Illinois agencies favored a setback in the planning to a plant of 20 million gallon capacity because of the closing here of the Corn Sweeteners, Inc., plant (formerly Miles Laboratories) which provided more than 3 million gallons of sewage per day.

After hearings here, in Collinsville and Springfield, the federal EPA withdrew its objections against the larger design.

But the state EPA held out for the smaller (20 million gallon) planning until revised data prepared by the Southwestern Illinois Metropolitan Area Planning Commission showed justification for the larger plant on the basis of the area's growth potential.

Mayor Schuler said that when he presented the final grant applications to EPA officials in

Bigger role for levee trustees

By GARY SCHNEIDER

Press-Record Staff Writer

A move to reduce the "enormous" powers of the president of the East Side Levee and Sanitary District trustees was initiated by the board during a meeting in East St. Louis Thursday.

The board voted unanimously to remove the power of the president to hire employees without board approval by rescinding Resolution 218, which was passed in 1948.

The old resolution read, "the president is authorized and empowered to appoint employees until further order by this board." No further orders had been initiated since 1948 leading to what Trustee Jack Scoville termed "misuses of this power by several past presidents."

After Trustees Scoville and Charles Meyers of St. Clair County and William "Mike" Elensoldi and Russell Robinson of Madison County voted in favor of the change, President Romel Wilson of East St. Louis also gave his approval.

Scoville also introduced an ordinance to revise the by-laws of the levee district and give more power to the board, rather than to the president or other district officials.

"I call for the board to join with me in an attempt to modernize the by-laws of the district. It is imperative we do this," Scoville told the trustees.

Scoville's ordinance will come before the board for adoption in 30 days. If passed, it will rescind Ordinance One which was passed in 1909, and Ordinance 35, passed in 1913. The new document establishes new procedures for the board to follow.

The major proposed changes in Scoville's document are: Removing the president's power to dismiss district employees and giving that power to the board.

Requiring that all purchases of less than $4,000 be approved by the board, rather than by just the president. Purchases of $4,000 or more still must be made by the board after competitive bidding.

Removal of the president's authority to declare a state of emergency under which he receives additional powers. "In this day of instant communications, there is no reason two, three or even all five members of the board could not be contacted within four to five hours, so emergency powers are unnecessary," Scoville explained.

The new state constitution does not authorize the district to have emergency powers, he added.

Requiring that no compensation be paid any employee without approval of at least two members of the board's finance committee.

Taking the power to choose bank depositories from the district's treasurer and giving that power to the board.

Authorizing the board to approve a chief attorney. "In the past we have lost cases by default because the attorneys did not know who was responsible for the case," Scoville said.

Wilson emphasized that no cases have been lost under the present board.

"Perhaps the problem in the levee district has been one-man rule as the president has the absolute power to hire and fire and to make purchases under $4,000, Scoville added.

"If we attack this with the district in mind instead of ourselves, we can make this a good government as any around here," Scoville commented.

Tentative building pact

A tentative agreement has been reached between the 1,300 member Operating Engineers Local 520 of Mitchell and the Southern Illinois Builders' Association and Southern Illinois Contractors' Association.

The agreement was reached after a 10½ hour negotiating session Friday, Ted Dressel, union business representative, reported today.

Wayne Barber, executive director of the SIBA, described the agreement as "a compromise settlement. We agreed to it and we did it without any further work stoppage, and that's important," he said.

Terms of the settlement were not disclosed pending ratification by the union's membership at 8 p.m. Friday at the union hall, 520 Engineer Road, Mitchell.

The union had been asking for 50 cents an hour increase in wages and 2½ cents in fringe benefits.

The workers, who operate heavy motorized equipment, currently receive $3.33 an hour in wages plus $1.22 an hour in fringe benefits.

The contract must be approved by the Construction Industry Stabilization Council in Washington if it is ratified by the union membership.

The package covers only six and a-half months, beginning Jan. 1, 1974, and expiring July 15, 1974. The present contract expires Dec. 31, 1973, but contains a clause which allowed a strike or lockout if agreement had not been reached by July 1.

The union went on strike July 2 and returned to work several hours later after a federal judge issued a temporary restraining order. A hearing on the restraining order was scheduled for 3:30 p.m. today in Peoria.

The short-lived strike halted most construction in a 16 county area, including Madison County. Among projects threatened were the Granite City High School-North construction, the Route 203 improvement and rebuilding of the Owens and air pollution control equipment installation at Granite City Steel Co.

Madison boy burned

A 4-year-old Madison boy suffered burns on 20 percent of his body during a fire in his bedroom Sunday morning.

Anthony Backstrom, son of Mrs. Rose Backstrom, 915 Jefferson St., Madison, was rescued from his burning bedroom by Henry Byrd, 20, of 900 Jefferson St., who crawled through a rear bedroom window and carried the boy out through the flames and smoke.

Madison firemen were called to the scene at 7:25 a.m. Sunday and reported a fan motor near the boy's bed apparently had shorted electrically and burned the boy and the fan blew flames onto the bed, setting it ablaze.

The boy was taken in a Venice police car to St. Elizabeth Hospital, where he was treated for first, second and third degree burns on both arms and his right leg. He was transferred to Cardinal Glennon Hospital, St. Louis.

Firemen limited the blaze to the bedroom and extinguished it at 8:15 a.m.

Chief of surgery dies

Dr. John Samuel Riley Jr., 47, chief of surgery at St. Elizabeth Hospital, died at 12:45 a.m. Friday at Barnes Hospital, St. Louis, where he was admitted after suffering a heart attack.

He was a resident of St. Louis. Dr. Riley joined the St. Elizabeth Hospital medical staff in 1966. He maintained a medical office at 501 Madison St., Brooklyn, for the past 15 years.

He was born in Seneca, S.C., and received his medical degree from Howard University Medical College, Washington, D.C., in 1951. He interned at Homer G. Phillips Hospital, St. Louis.

Dr. Riley was elected vice-president of the St. Elizabeth Hospital medical staff in 1967 and the following year became president of the medical staff and chief of staff.

In 1969, he was elected a fellow in the American College of Surgeons and became a member of the St. Elizabeth Hospital executive committee.

Dr. Riley became chief of surgery here in 1971. He held memberships in the Tri-City Medical Society, the American College of Surgeons, the Madison County American Medical Association and the St. Louis County Medical Association.

Surviving are his widow, Mary, and three children, John Samuel Riley III, 18, Joel Riley, 13, and Miss Jerda Riley, 16, all at home, and his mother, Mrs. Tecora Riley, Seneca, S.C.

Requiem Mass will be at 10 a.m. Tuesday at the Little Flower Catholic Church, 1284 Arch Terrace, St. Louis. He is at a St. Louis funeral home, where a prayer service will be held at 8 p.m. today.

With the stock market sagging in the U.S. and the dollar value plunging overseas, federal policymakers said Saturday that Phase 4 wage-price controls will be announced within a week or ten days.

Their hope is to relieve present uncertainty in the economy. A Phase 3½ price freeze went into effect in early June for a period of up to 60 days.

The proposed new program is called "tough" but designed to get the nation headed away from wage-price controls.

Gasoline prices are expected to be placed at 39 or 40 cents a gallon across the nation. With unemployment having dropped to 4.8 per cent and the economy booming in many ways, the U.S. is unsure why there is persistent foreign pressure against the dollar, although "wild rumors" are blamed. Part of the problem may be doubt of U.S. ability to cure continuing deficit in the balance of payments between America and other countries, officials say.

New controls in food exports, intended to halt domestic food price hikes, also are expected to worsen the payments deficit.

Tighter money is another anti-inflation effort, and the Federal Reserve Board continued its efforts last week to increase interest rates, including those paid by financial institutions.

With the prime lending rate rising to 4½ per cent Friday and Illinois limiting interest to 3 per cent, home purchases involving mortgages may require larger down payments, it was reported.

Scotland Yard chief to speak

One of Scotland Yard's key law enforcement officers, Chief Inspector Harry Thomlinson, will address local Explorer scouts, personnel from Quad-City police departments and youths interested in police careers at 8 p.m. Thursday at Madison police headquarters, 1529 Third St.

The program is being arranged by Explorer Post 10-4, a law enforcement specialty unit sponsored by the Madison Lions Club and Madison Police Department.

Special guests will be members of Explorer Post 10-3, a newly formed unit sponsored by the Granite City Police Department.

Bill Weidner, Post 10-4 president, said all area police officers and young men, 15 years and older, who are interested in making a career in law enforcement work, are invited to hear the Scotland Yard inspector.

Inspector Thomlinson currently is teaching a course at Belleville Area Community College, involving "Problems in Criminal Justice." Several Quad-City police officers are students in the lecture series.

An active scout in England, the police inspector, 45, is married and has three teenage children.

After serving in the Royal Navy, he joined the London Metropolitan Police Force in October 1948. During the next 21 years he served at six operational stations covering every type of district that a huge metropolitan area offers and gaining experience in all facets of police work during a period of wide-spread social change.

His service record made him eminently suitable for selection as a member of a team at New Scotland Yard to research into personnel and training matters and he eventually became involved in job evaluation, initially within the force and later at the national level, to regularize the rank structure.

As a chief inspector, he has diverse administrative responsibilities, including firearms instruction and telecommunications training.

He arrived in the area June 8 and will depart at the conclusion of the eight-week summer session, returning to Britain and his status as "an on duty officer."

Governor aware of Dobrey needs

Governor Dan Walker has reassured residents of the Dobrey Slough area of Nameki Township that the need for drainage improvements for the area will be given his "closest attention" in his consideration of appropriation bills approved by the General Assembly early last week.

In a letter to Mrs. Helen Hawkins, one of a group of Dobrey area residents working with government officials to obtain relief from flooding conditions caused by the slough, the governor said he was aware of the urgent need and will give close attention to funding legislation that would permit construction of a drainage line in the area.

The letter was in response to an inquiry at the governor's office last week concerning the status of last-minute budget actions of the House and Senate on a bill that would provide $150,000 for construction of a drainage line, for which all plans and right-of-way needs have been completed.

The drainage project to be built by the Illinois Division of Waterways was blocked June 26 when the state failed to receive bids on the work.

Granite City Press-Record

Since the state's fiscal year ended June 30, last year's appropriation for the project died on that date.

State Rep. Horace Calvo (D-Granite City) submitted an amendment to appropriate the $150,000 for the 1973-74 fiscal year on June 29. The bill was approved in the House and sent to the Senate where, Calvo said today, the bill also was approved. The measure awaits the governor's signature.

Calvo said he understood from the governor's office that Gov. Walker approves of the project and will sign the appropriation measure.

MORE ABOUT Treatment

Chicago two weeks ago, he also provided data showing that it would cost $400,000 more to revise the planning and build the smaller plant, than if would proceed with the 23-million-gallon plant under presently completed engineering.

Sale of bonds to get construction under way is urgent because, under present federal grant provisions, the city must complete at least 10 per cent of the construction work before grant monies will become available.

Originally, federal provisions required a 25 per cent completion of water pollution control projects before releasing grant funds. Mayor Schuler said this has been cut to the 10 percent requirement.

The award of federal funds at this time will permit the city to finalize a contract with the Fulton Construction Co. of St. Louis on a $10.8 million construction bid, the lowest of five bids received by the city last year.

Lacking a commitment on federal funds, city officials have been holding a final contract sign in advance under time extensions granted by the contractor.

The federal EPA also approved grants for water pollution control projects in three other Madison County communities, according to Cong. Price's announcement. These included a grant of $408,525 for a modification of sewage treatment facilities in Troy, to cost an estimated $944,700.

A grant of $980,850 for construction of a sanitary sewer interceptor line and treatment facilities at Bethalto, to cost an estimated $1,207,800.

A grant of $3,036,754 for construction of secondary sewage treatment facilities at Alton, estimated to cost $4,049,000.

Youth-adult involvement Plan

Coordinated Youth Services, a United Way agency at 1255 Niedringhaus Ave., is initiating a new project to be known as the "Youth-Adult Involvement" program which will be modeled along lines of the national "Big Brothers" program. "We want to provide meaningful companionship which is a necessity of life and which adds to one's growth, both outwardly and inwardly. The program is for youths of this area who are not afforded this opportunity," Greg Schuler, CVS staff member, said. "We need adults first. After we sign up 10 adults, we will take applications from young people.

"We are not talking about people spending a lot of money on the kids. We are talking about them spending some time with them... about four hours a week," Schuler said. "Since this is a non-funded program, we must rely on volunteer adults from the Quad-Cities to make it a success. "The qualification for a big brother or big sister is that the person be a responsible adult from any walk of life who is willing to spend a least four hours a week with a youth," Schuler explained. Inquiries concerning the new program may be obtained by calling Phyllis Berger or Schuler at 876-2383.

The new appointment to be made this week, in which the mayor said he will name Mrs. Cecil Williams as a member of

Taxpayers being asked to check their bills

Madison County residents may pay their real estate tax bills in any bank in the county, including the four banks in the Quad-Cities, or at the county treasurer's office at the courthouse in Edwardsville, the staff of Treasurer George Musso reminded the public today.

Collections no longer are being made by most township tax collectors or the Granite City Hall.

Tax bills have been mailed by the treasurer's office to residents of all townships except five, including Venice and Chouteau Townships, where the tax collectors are to distribute them.

The bills were computed and addressed by a firm in Ohio this year, and errors have been reported, the treasurer's staff said.

Taxpayers were advised to examine their bills carefully to assure that they received the right bill for the right property.

In case of error, or in case no bill has been received, they are to notify the treasurer's office for correction.

Tax bills are to be prepared next year by the county, which is developing its own computer system.

Simon forming new class

The second class in public affairs reporting is scheduled to begin this August at Sangamon State University in Springfield, and students interested should contact the university soon, Paul Simon, director of the master's degree program, has announced. The 1973-74 program will begin Aug. 27.

A former local state legislator, Simon was Illinois lieutenant governor in 1960-72. "Students need not have a degree in journalism to be eligible to enter the program," Simon said. "We anticipate a good mixture of students with backgrounds in government, history, sociology and economics."

All students in the program are required to take two courses in public affairs reporting under Director Simon.

Each course is an advance study in the techniques of journalism, including investigative reporting and other techniques applicable to the coverage of governmental news. Each uses as resource persons the many correspondents and editors responsible for State Capitol coverage.

During their fall semester, students selected for the program are given preliminary academic grounding in areas pertinent to effective reporting of public affairs, including such fields as public budgeting and legislative politics.

Then, during the second semester, they enter an internship which includes seminars as well as other methods of bridging the academic and professional areas. During one semester, the student works full time for a season reporter at the State Capitol during the General Assembly.

Public affairs interns receive a stipend during the period of their internship. At the end of one year, students who have completed 40 hours of credit work are eligible for the master of arts degree in public affairs reporting.

The applicant for admission to the program is screened by a committee of faculty and representatives of the State Capitol press corps. Graduates of the program are already seasoned reporters, equipped to understand and report governmental affairs something vital to the proper exercise of the journalist's profession, and to the functioning of a democracy, Simon believes.

The former lieutenant governor is a working journalist and Kennedy Fellow at Harvard University. Enrollment is limited and students wishing to be considered should write to: Dean of Admissions and Records, Sangamon State University, Springfield, Ill. 62708.

Mining crackdown

By MARY MANNING
Capitol News Service
Springfield — Nowdays, when you "take it all off," you've gotta "put it all back on."

At least, that's the consensus of the Surface-Mined Land Conservation and Reclamation Act of 1971, which is administered by the Department of Mines and Minerals division of land reclamation.

The act ensures that before any tract of land is disturbed through strip mining, a reclamation plan must be filed and approved by the department. If approved, a permit is issued for one year's mining privileges. And the law's approach seems to be "if it can't be reclaimed, it can't be mined."

"Our department has jurisdiction over strip mines where the over-burden exceeds 10 feet in depth and affects more than 10 acres, as well as gob piles and slurry ponds," explained Gene Filer, supervisor of the division.

(When the waste products are taken out of a mineral during the cleaning and preparation, the course refuse is hauled out to a gob pile. The finer refuse may be pumped into a slurry pond.)

Although strip mining has been done in Illinois since 1866, the first attempt to control it came in 1962 with subsequent, stronger bills in 1968 and 1971.

However, 160,000 acres in 40 Illinois counties have been mined, 90,000 acres of which have not been effectively reclaimed, according to a report by the Illinois Institute for Environmental Quality.

Some of these acres, particularly in southeastern Illinois, probably never will because they were mined prior to the 1962 law.

Before a permit is issued, the company must submit a reclamation plan to the department. These plans are, in turn, filed at least 60 days before issuance with the county boards within whose jurisdiction the said lands will affect. The county boards will study the feasibility of the plans and, along with the department, may make recommendations or changes in the plan.

"Our department changes about 20 percent of the plans," stated Filer.

Along with the reclamation plans, a bond must be posted for each mine. For surface mining, the bonds range from $600 to $1,000 per acre and are determined by the department. Slurry ponds and gob piles require a $1,000 per acre bond unless application is made for a temporary gob pile which carries no bond. These surety bonds are released only after the lands are reclaimed and approved by the department.

A $50 fee is charged per permit which is valid from July 1 to the next July 1. New plans must be submitted each year even if a permit was granted for a mine the previous year.

However, it is not necessary to renew permits for slurry ponds and gob piles because such an operation does not change while in use.

The penalty for not obtaining a permit is stiff: last year the land reclamation division initiated a misdemeanor complaint against a Williamson County mine operating without a permit and succeeded in securing an injunction against its operation.

As of December 1972, 188 mine locations were under inspection, 135 of which were active mines. This number represents the following permits by category: 37 for coal, 67 for limestone, 11 for shale and clay, five for sand and gravel. In addition, nine permits were issued for gob piles and another 12 for slurry ponds.

Attitude of juveniles toward police studied

The police force is a threatened system in many American communities, according to studies conducted by Mary Jeannette Love of Washington, D.C., a former resident of Belleville and student at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

Mrs. Love's research is reported in her thesis which was written in partial fulfillment of the requirements for a master of arts degree at SIUE.

Writing on the subject, "Juvenile Attitudes of Hostility-Competency Toward the Police as a Function of Progression through the Juvenile Justice System," Mrs. Love said, "The modern police force is a collage of antiquated methods, modern equipment, poor training and lack of adequate support and communication with the community they serve."

Mrs. Love's paper was concerned with the common assumptions that juveniles, as they progress through detention, probation and a community correctional facility, become more hostile toward police and feel that police are less competent.

The research indicates that the attitudes of juveniles depend heavily on their age, sex, race, environmental background and contacts they have had with police officers. Significant differences were found between groups who had experienced detention and those who had been in more serious difficulties with the police and judicial system.

The paper makes a complete study of the development of the American system of law enforcement, dating back to the origins of the system in England. The research explores the functions of the modern police force, its problems, and the public attitudes toward police as reported by recent literature.

Mrs. Love describes the modern police force as "a community life-support system," and she views the situation as critical when disagreement between the public and the police reaches the stage of open hostility.

Mrs. Love contends that knowledge of public attitudes is essential to the police, not only for a good public relations program, but also for the adequate training and management of "the most highly visual agency of the justice system."

Jubilee mass

Time is running short for couples who have been married 25, 40 or 50 years during 1973 to participate in the Marriage Jubilee festivities at the Shrine of Our Lady of the Snows. Deadline for registration to join in a Family Mass on July 29th and receive an engraved scroll is July 15th.

The Rev. William Westman, O.M.I., shrine director, is urging all who fit into this category to join in a renewal of their marriage vows at an evening Mass on July 29th. Those desiring to participate can register with their local pastor or send their names directly to Father Westman at the Shrine office, 15 S. 59th St., Belleville.

The Most Rev. Albert R. Zuroweste, bishop of Belleville, will award the commemorative scrolls. At the ceremony in 1972 a total of 158 couples joined in the marriage renewal observance.

Legion no-hitter by John Stanton

By ROBERT DOLAN
Press-Record Staff Writer
John Stanton hurled a no-hitter Friday night to lead the Granite City Post 113 squad to a 6-0 victory over O'Fallon in the American Legion Baseball League.

Granite City Press-Record
Mon., July 9, 1973 Page 6

Stanton fanned 12 batters while giving up only two walks in pitching no-hit ball. Stanton also helped himself at bat by smacking out three singles for the night. Granite City had a total of 12 hits and one error; O'Fallon committed two errors. Mike Stanton, who also had a single, hit the only home run of the game in the third inning with nobody on base as Post 113 scored 1-1-0-3-0-0 in the seven innings.

Also backing up John Stanton's pitching with their bats were Steve Ashby, who smacked a triple and single; Jack Scarborough, who had three singles; and Kirk Champion and Mike Martinez, with a single a piece. Venice-Madison Post 307 picked up a win Thursday night when Lebanon forfeited a game. Lebanon has canceled all of its games for the rest of the season because there are not enough boys remaining on that team to play.

On Friday night, Post 307 forfeited its game at Highland when not enough Venice-Madison Players arrived to comprise a full team.

'Fan night' at raceway south of Madison; Evel Knievel to return

St. Louis International Raceway south of Madison celebrated its 10th anniversary with a "fan appreciation night" Friday night. Special admission prices and 10-cent beers and colas were offered and drew a large crowd. The program included eliminations between 10 pro stock cars. More than 600 cars competed in other racing brackets.

The Dedmon & McCormick pro-stocker was the top prize winner of the night, defeating the Suspicion Camaro of Granite City, owned by Al Mitchell and Roger Elliott. The track was closed Sunday due to the hot weather.

RACING RUNABOUT driven by Paul Bogosian, 2808 Center St., who with his son, John, 13, will compete in the Kiwanis Club boat races Sunday at Horseshoe Lake. Bogosian, 32, an employee in the engineering department of McDonnell Aircraft Corp., and his son compete in racing events throughout the U. S. Tickets are $1 and may be purchased from any member of the two local Kiwanis Clubs.

High-speed hydroplanes to race at lake Sunday

Alcohol and nitro-powered hydroplanes will be "burning up" the water at Horseshoe Lake at 1 p.m. Sunday. Some of the boats will be racing at speeds exceeding 100 miles an hour.

The races are sponsored by the two local Kiwanis clubs to raise money for civic projects. Tickets are $1 and are available from any Kiwanian. The races are sanctioned by the American Power Boat Association, the world's largest boat racing organization, and are presented by the Outboard Central Professional Racing Association. According to Kiwanian Bill Seebold, chairman of the event, boat drivers from seven states will take part.

Lindemann earns checkered flag

One week and 15 yellow flag laps later, one of the longest events in racing history ended in victory for Clyde Lindemann of Cottleville, Mo., Friday night at the Tri-City Speedway. The "Falstaff Summer Classic," a 50-lap mid-season championship event for late model stock cars, began June 28, but was stopped on the 24th lap when the car of Russell Wallace Arnold, Mo., climbed the front straight-away wall, ripping down the cyclone fence in front of several thousand spectators.

Lindemann had just assumed the lead from Len Gittermeier of Missouri when the accident occurred. With the fence ripped down without electricity due to fallen wires, track officials decided to resume on the 24th lap one week later.

Of the 15 cars that started the event on June 28, only three returned for the finish Friday night and only six were able to complete the race. Lindemann jumped into the lead as the green flag fell and was never seriously challenged after Johnny Prior of Centralia had to pull to the pits with mechanical problems on the 35th lap. While in competition, Prior remained on Lindemann's bumper looking for an opportunity to seize the lead—an opportunity that never came. When he dropped out, Prior broke his string of three consecutive victory race victories here. Ken Schrader of Valley Park, Mo., and Ron King, St. Louis, were second and third at the checkered flag. Friday night's activities also included a full racing program which followed the conclusion of the classic race. Prior, after making repairs to his car, was the fastest qualifier with a half-mile lap in 26.31 seconds and won the handicap event for the six fastest qualifiers. In the 25 lap feature race, he finished second behind the 1972 track champion, W.B. Spalding of Pontoon Beach. Pat Walsh of St. Louis won the hobby car feature, and the 1972 lap hobby heat—was won by Bruce Donaldson of St. Charles, Mo. Late model heat winners were Harold Workman, Valley Park, Joe Northup, Jacksonville, and Ron King. "Powder Puff Derby" for women drivers will be included in next Friday night's racing program. Time trials will begin at 7:30 with racing about 8:30.

Boosters win, Mercer divides

In a battle of the bats, St. Mary's Boosters downed Plaza 12-10 Sunday in Madison to move into second place in the Division of the Inter-City Baseball League while Mercer split, downing Troy 14-8 Saturday on the road and losing to Glen Carbon 6-3 Sunday at Wilson Park. Stu Struck, with a home run, three singles, three RBIs and four-for-five at bat was the Boosters' big gun. John Piechocinski also belted a home run along with two singles. John Papa, brother of the winning pitcher, Frank Papa, belted a triple and two singles as the Boosters garnered 15 hits. St. Mary's was in a stealing mood as Al Bregan took two bases, Ray Greer, who was two-for-five at bat, Piechocinski and Frank Papa each stole a base.

Center fielder Dave Sparks started right off on Saturday as he belted a two-run homer in the first. Mercer racked up 14 runs on 16 hits and committed two errors. Troy managed eight runs on 10 hits with two errors. Mercer's big inning was the eighth, with 10 runs. Don Harris doubled with the bases loaded and Mercer's first baseman Larry Corey tagged a three-run homer. Harris, four-for-six at the plate Saturday, is batting an even .500 with 14 hits. On Sunday at Glen Carbon, Steve Scharan hit a solo home run as his team managed three runs on five hits and committed three errors. Glen Carbon had six runs on seven hits and no errors. In the first, Dave Sparks doubled, stole third and scored on a passed ball. Mark Boone was the losing pitcher.

All-City finals at Wilson Park

About 60 youngsters will compete at Wilson Park rink pavilion at 1:15 p.m. Thursday in annual "All-City Championships" of the Granite City Park District's summer recreation program. Mrs. Helen Bjorkman, program director, said that participants will represent 10 playground centers where previously the children have won elimination contests in frisbee, hula hoop, hopscotch, four squares, checkers and horseshoe tournaments. Parents are invited to view the championship matches.

Bogosian wins

Paul Bogosian of Granite City won first place in two events in boat races held Saturday and Sunday at Dumas, Ark. He won the class C and class D runabout events to bring his record so far this season to five firsts and one second. He will compete in the Kiwanis boat races here on Sunday. FIND STOLEN CYCLE The motorcycle of Nicholas Kusela, 2005 1/2 Edwardsville Road, stolen from the 900 block of Niedringhaus Avenue at 11:35 p.m. Friday, was recovered at 12:30 a.m. Saturday and was returned to him.

Miss Susan Friederich married at SIU chapel

Tall stands of large white mums, intermingled with tiny yellow mums, adorned the altar of the chapel at Southern Illinois University Religious Center at Edwardsville, for the June 30 wedding of Miss Susan Marie Friederich and Randall D. Bell of Alton.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard J. Friederich, 2138 Clark Ave. The groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Bell, reside at 2328 Edwards St.

Organ selections, including "I Believe," "He" and "We've Only Just Begun," were presented by Dan Becherer of O'Fallon, Ill., prior to the ceremony.

The Rev. Mark Para officiated at the 2 p.m. ceremony.

For her wedding Miss Friederich chose a Mexican peasant style bridal gown of white cotton and polyester batiste. Venice lace outlined the Empire bodice and square neckline. Lace inserts defined the large puff sleeves and a deep flounce which encircled the lower tiers of the softly gathered skirt.

In her hair she wore floral headpieces of white pom poms and golden garnet roses entwined with variegated ivy. She carried a basket of white pom poms, golden garnet roses and trailing ivy.

Attendants for the young couple were Miss Gina Buzard of St. Louis, Mo., and Bernard Buecher of Decatur, Ill.

The honor maid was attired in a deep yellow gown of cotton and polyester organza.

The bodice of her gown, made with puff sleeves, complemented the lower skirt fashioned of white flocked floral fabric.

She wore a white picture hat trimmed with yellow ribbon and she carried a basket of yellow pom poms and ivy.

The newly married couple will reside in Bebalto.

The former Mrs. Friederich, a graduate of Granite City High School, received a degree in Dental Hygiene from Southern Illinois University at Carbondale in 1970. She has been employed until recently as a dental hygienist in Clayton, Mo., and later this month plans to resume her profession in Godfrey, Ill.

The groom is a graduate of Granite City High School and served four years of active duty in the U.S. Army as a helicopter instructor and pilot. He received his B.S. degree from Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville and presently is a dental student at the Alton campus of SIU.

Following the ceremony, a buffet was served in a garden setting at the home of the bride's parents. Assisting were Mrs. Kay Friederich and Mrs. Janet Bertacchi, both sisters-in-law of the bride, and Mrs. Kay Clay and Mrs. Regina Snelson.

Miss Diane Friederich, sister of the bride, presided over the guest book and Miss Jane Friederich, another sister of the bride, assisted at the punch bowl.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Friederich selected a sleeveless gown of teal blue knit with embroidered pastel floral trim.

Mrs. Bell, the groom's mother, appeared in a sleeveless knit dress, made with a white pleated skirt and a blue and white checked bodice. Both mothers wore corsages of golden garnet roses.

Child abuse rising

Copley News Service
Springfield — Child abuse cases set a new record in Illinois in May, with 109 episodes reported to the state's Department of Children and Family Services. There have been 1,040 cases reported between last July and the end of May.

The May total alone is nearly a quarter the cases reported in the entire first year that reports were required — 475 cases in the period between July 1, 1965 and June 30, 1966.

Pre-schoolers took the brunt of the abuse, with 13 cases involving babies between one and five months, and 16 more involving youngsters between six and 11 months.

There were 29 cases reported in the one to two-year bracket and 22 cases involving children three through five years during May.

Hospitals reported most of the cases, 102 of the 109, with six other reports coming from physicians and one from an unspecified source.

As usual, the abuses cover a variety of types, with beating the most prevalent — accounting for 55 of the cases.

In 18 cases there were multiple abuses reported and in 18 others, neglect was charged.

Cases also were reported covering fractures, malnutrition, burns, sexual assaults and six listed as "other."

In the May report, there were no poisonings, though three had been reported in earlier months.

Mothers were blamed for abuse in 41 cases, with fathers blamed in 18, and mothers and fathers together in six.

Other incidents occurred at the hands of step-parents, brothers or sisters, other relatives, foster parents, mothers and their paramours.

neighbors and baby-sitters.

Dr. Jerome Miller, department head, has estimated there is one death nearly every week in Illinois as a result of child abuse.

Increased emphasis on child advocacy programs has been urged by Dr. Miller, and the department has already entered into a contract with a recently established non-profit advocacy operation in Chicago.

Not dealing only with abuse victims, the operation will, however, give youngsters an additional source of aid and support when needed.

A contract has also been signed between the department and Illinois Central College in Peoria to establish an advocacy training course, and an announcement is expected soon of a similar arrangement with Sangamon State University in Springfield.

Roughly half the child abuse cases reported in the state occur in Chicago. During May, 67 of the 109 cases were reported there.

Simon--only happy politician in state

Bids on port road repair

Kiwanis charter tonight

By KEN WATSON
Copley News Service
Springfield--"The only happy politician in town is Paul Simon!"

That's how one of the Statehouse regulars summed up the political situation as the Illinois legislature ground through the final hours of a wearying and frustrating session.

Simon, back on the Springfield scene after a stint of lecturing at Harvard, was about the only politician around who was still smiling.

With the exception of the former lieutenant governor and Sangamon State University professor, everyone else connected with Illinois politics past or present was unhappy.

As the muggy July heat closed around the silent post-legislature Statehouse, Republicans and Democrats were feeding and fighting among themselves with a bitterness rare even for them.

The best show was the "lightning war" that flashed on the session's final weekend between Atty. Gen. William J. Scott and House Speaker W. Robert Blair.

The two top Republicans parted ways when Blair failed to support Scott's bill to provide for statewide grand juries.

The bill failed House passage by one vote--Blair's.

Scott reacted to a press conference to accuse Blair of selling out to legislative forces

Granite City Press-Record

recognized as "liberal" as far as the toleration of gambling is concerned. The attorney general was pretty rough.

Both Blair and Scott are known to have their eyes on the 1978 Republican nomination for governor and the fight over the grand jury bill is expected to be only the beginning of a long and bitter power struggle.

Things are scarcely more friendly in the Democratic family.

As the legislative session ended, Gov. Dan Walker was still virtually ignoring his unhappy Lt. Gov. Neil Hartigan.

Other Democratic leaders had little to say about Walker. He was virtually ignored in post-session commentaries.

Senate Democratic Leader Cecil A. Parnis, known to be extremely displeased with the session's performance, publicly derided Walker's signing of a bill for Chicago Regional Transit Authority as meaningless.

Mayor Richard J. Daley and Chicago newspapers agreed with Parnis that the minor bill intended originally to serve DuPage County, won't do the job.

House Democratic Leader Clyde Chaste didn't even mention Walker by name in a four-page statement summing up Chaste's views of the legislature's performance. He said the session's biggest achievement was in the passing of many "anti-and-bolts pieces of legislation--the kind that doesn't always make headlines, but which has a profound effect on the workings of government and the lives of our people."

Probably the most contented legislative leader was Senate President William C. Harris of Pontiac. The Senate avoided most of the end-of-session demoralization that made the larger House look silly.

Harris' Republicans could also claim some successful legislative initiatives--including the virtual restoring of the popular highway program of former Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie, once threatened with emasculation by Walker.

Individual legislators themselves, Democrats perhaps even more so than Republicans, left Springfield unhappy. They feel that the voters will dismiss the session as a failure and blame them.

Indeed, Walker promptly took off in his state plane for another of his Illinois flyarounds to tell the people that those bad politicians at Springfield had again frustrated his plans to make things better.

Bids for repairing flood damaged roadways at the Tri-City Regional Port will be opened publicly at 11 a.m. Thursday in the port district office, 2601 Rock Road.

Work will include reshaping and rolling of the roadway with base, prime and seal coats.

The port area and roads were under water for several weeks this Spring as the Mississippi River flooded.

Price offers book on food budgeting

Congressman Melvin Price, Dem., 23rd Ill. District, has announced the publication of a new booklet, "Your Money's Worth in Foods," by the U.S. Department of Agriculture. Because of public concern over rising food costs, Price said, he will make the booklet available upon request.

The local congressman explained that the 36-page booklet discusses such topics as food budgets, comparison shopping and how to shop for basic foods.

Also included are tables showing cost per serving for various meats, fruits and vegetables, as well as sample menus which emphasize low-cost, nutritious foods.

Due to the nationwide interest in the price of living, Rep. Price said, "this booklet should be a help to all budget-conscious shoppers."

Those interested in obtaining a copy may address their requests to Rep. Price, 2608 Rayburn Building D. C. 20515.

'World 2000'

"Life World 2000," a KETC-TV-produced series designed to alert junior high students to the many and varied facets of population, premieres Wednesday, July 25 at 8 p.m. on Channel 9.

Programs in this six part series include: "Migration," which examines the effect of immigration and emigration on population change; "Metropolitan Areas," a look at urban living in America, its problems and its future; "Crowding," which discusses the difference between crowding and density and shows how a person's perception of a crowded situation can make it "good" or "bad."

"Pollution," which features a debate between two of America's leading ecologists concerning the relationship between population and pollution; "Families and Babies," a look at the family unit in America, the "ideal" family size throughout the years and why people become parents; and "Population Trends," which delves into past and present population trends, natural increase, and the birth and death rate.

Produced through a grant from the Sunnen Foundation of St. Louis and directed by Dan Jeffries of KETC-TV, the series will be distributed nationally for in-school programming by National Instructional Television. KETC-TV writers Sally Page and Bill Bailey, assisted consultants from educational institutions and population organizations, are striving to keep the series objective by presenting both sides of all issues.

Personalities seen in this series include Marshall Kiron of the late "Great American Dream Machine," Dr. Paul Ehrlich of ZPG fame, Dr. Barry Commoner of Washington University, and Dr. John Calhoun of the National Institute of Health.

A viewer's guide to "Life World 2000" is free to Channel 9 members. Requests may be sent to: KETC-TV, 6906 Millbrook Blvd., St. Louis, Mo. 63130.

Room at the top— 800,870 visit arch

The Bi-State Development Agency and the National Park Service announced Friday that the fiscal year ending June 30, 1973, set new records in revenues and the number of passengers taken to the top of the Arch in Bi-State's Gateway Arch Passenger Transportation System at the Jefferson National Expansion Memorial.

The passengers consisted of 698,661 adults and 192,209 children, totaling 890,870. This number represents a 3.3 percent increase over the previous record established last year.

Since the Arch transportation system opened on July 24, 1967, 4,355,641 people have ridden to the top of the Arch, Bi-State executive director Elmer W. Belew said.

The skills of "how to think" are being emphasized in "value education" experiments being conducted at the Roxana Teaching-Learning Center by the School of Education at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

According to David Hofmann, associate professor in the foundations of education department at SIUE, value education materials are being used which are grounded in the moral theorizing of Harvard psychologist Lawrence Kohlberg.

"Value education based upon Kohlberg's findings differs radically from traditional programs of value education," Hofmann explained. "The traditional purpose of value education has been that of inculcation of belief."

The attempt has been to have the young learn to accept certain value conclusions pre-selected by teachers or others. With the Kohlberg approach, the attempt is not to inculcate moral belief, but rather to help the child improve his critical thinking ability concerning moral issues and problems.

"The program focus is upon the skills of 'how to think' and not upon the direct shaping of the content of what is thought," Hofmann said.

Hofmann is developing an experimental field-based project in value education at the elementary school level. He also is reading philosophy of education materials for the Roxana Center where he will be teaching in the fall.

Value education based on the Kohlberg theory was introduced into the Roxana Center during the winter and spring sessions with the assistance of James Andreis, instructor in foundations of education at SIUE, and Dudley Curry, associate professor and chairman of the foundations of education department at SIUE.

Mrs. Patricia Meyer, third grade teacher at Central Grade School, Roxana, worked with the SIUE professors in developing value education sessions in her class. The experimental effort was authorized by Mrs. Virginia Wharton, principal of Central School.

Hofmann said the Harvard psychologist contends there are six distinct stages of moral reasoning. Development through the stages is "progressive and irreversible," according to the theory, but development may terminate at any given stage in the absence of appropriate development encouragement.

"Teachers and parents can be equipped with the skills and knowledge to provide the appropriate stimulus for the development of a child's moral reasoning skills through the stages," Hofmann said.

A decentralization in the office of teacher education at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville is expected to provide closer communication between coordinators and various departments, according to S. Joseph Gore, assistant dean for undergraduate programs in the SIUE School of Education.

Gore said the reorganization involved the reassignment of people who did the coordinating in the office of teacher education to the various departments in the school of education, particularly in the elementary, secondary and special education departments.

"The result is that the coordination will come from the departments themselves instead of the office of teacher education," Gore said. "Basically, the same persons

Tox warrants to permit back pay

The East Side, Levee and Sanitary District soon may be able to pay more than $200,000 owed to employees who have continued to work although they have not received checks since the last week in April.

William "Mike" Ebersoldt of Venice and Russell Robinson of Granite City, the Madison County (Quad-City) trustees on the levee board, cleared on the way Thursday afternoon for the district to call $200,000 worth of tax anticipation warrants to pay its debts.

The two trustees signed letters declaring they would not appeal a June 25 ruling by the Illinois Supreme Court which declared unconstitutional a bill to divide the levee district along the Madison-St. Clair county line.

The letter also was signed by their attorney, State Rep. Horace Calvo (D-Granite City).

Charles, and Treutman of St. Louis, the district's bonding attorneys, were unable to declare the anticipation warrants legal until all appeals of the district's legal status had been cleared. Copies of the letters were sent to the bonding attorneys and to the Illinois Supreme Court.

Ebersoldt said the $200,000 payroll which is overdue, plus other debts which have been incurred since April, will require most of the $200,000, leaving the district little on which to operate.

Ebersoldt and Robinson first announced they would not appeal the court decision at the levee board's meeting Thursday.

Ebersoldt said, "We feel the Supreme Court, state or federal, is the law of the land and we will concur in their decision."

Board President Romel Wilson told the two, "We thank you for that."

Wilson asked the trustees to meet in caucus after the regular meeting to discuss plans for meeting payrolls when the tax warrants are sold.

"We cannot pay these other two payrolls now and I do not think we can discuss this publicly," he said at the meetings.

The board is considering holding its annual reorganization meeting each December.

Previously, reorganization meetings were held in both December and January, creating a one-month "lame duck" administration, according to Trustee Jack Scoville, who proposed the change.

It is tied with a package of "reform" bills which will be voted on at the next meeting. At Thursday's session, Ebersoldt suggested that Calhoun Construction Co. be sold dirt from an unused levee that starts at the Mitchell Athletic Association park and continues to Old Route 3.

The construction firm offered 17 cents per cubic yard for the dirt, which is to be used for the Route 202 improvement project. The suggestion was referred to the levee district engineers to study and advise the board.

Ebersoldt spoke at the meeting to thank all the district personnel and volunteers who worked during recent flooding of the Mississippi River, and those who are preparing flood assistance forms.

"They are bearing with us on our financial condition and they worked real hard. They deserve our thanks," he said.

Social disease awareness month here

Mayors Paul Schuler of Granite City, Mike Sasyk of Madison and Dr. John E. Lee of Vooze have proclaimed July as "VD Awareness Month" in their respective cities.

The mayors' joint proclamation is an effort to make residents of this area as well as the U.S. more aware of the rise of venereal diseases.

There were 12 cases of syphilis and 102 gonorrhea cases reported among residents of the area last year.

"Since only one out of seven cases is reported, this month there were about 846 cases of syphilis and 714 cases of gonorrhea in the three cities last year," the mayors said.

"And most of these victims were between the ages of 15 and 25," they added.

The mayors are urging all residents of Madison, Venice and Granite City to observe "Awareness Month" by learning how they can avoid gonorrhea and syphilis.

"In order to bring these diseases under control," they said, "it is vital that everyone be made aware of the symptoms, the methods of transmission and where to go for treatment."

The mayors noted that one way to learn more is to call VD Checkline, a telephone service designed specifically to help those who want information or those who think they may have the disease but don't know where to go for treatment.

"Specially trained young volunteers answer the Checkline telephones," they explained, and have at their fingertips the names and addresses of all treatment centers throughout the state.

"All calls are confidential, and callers are not even asked to give their names." The Checkline number is 1-800-368-6868, or can be called toll-free from any telephone in Illinois.

Locally, specific information and assistance may be obtained from Miss Angela Dancy at the Coordinated Youth Services office, 1255 Niedringhaus Ave., or by calling 896-2253.

Major crime and traffic accident rates in Granite City increased during June over that of the same month last year, according to a report by Chief of Police Ronald J. Veizer.

Reported crimes totaled 311, up from 285 in June 1972, an increase of 20 percent.

Types of crimes included one forcible rape, up one, un-cleared; two robberies, up two, un-cleared; 11 assaults, same, four cleared, up one; 63 burglaries, up two, one cleared, down three; 16 auto burglaries, down 13, none cleared, down one; 132 larcenies, up 25, eight cleared, down 19; and 16 auto thefts, same, two cleared, up one.

Fifty-three other cases were cleared by arrest, up 12, for a total of 68 cases cleared, down 12, and 68 other arrests, down 12. There were 30 additional charges, up 16, for total charges of 271, down 33.

In the first six months of the year there have been 1,259 arrests, down 142, including 562 traffic arrests, down 78, and 397 other arrests, down 64.

There have been 204 additional charges, up 34, for total charges of 1,453, down 86. The department answered 1,833 complaints during the month.

Literature also may be secured by interested groups and individuals from the CVS staff member.

Treatment centers include St. Elizabeth Hospital Out-Patient Department, 2100 Madison Ave., Granite City; East Side Health District at 638 North 28th St., East St. Louis; and also in St. Louis, the Will McGaughey Community Health Center, 1505 East Broadway.

The St. Elizabeth Hospital Out-Patient Department is open Monday through Saturday 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

East Side Health District is open Monday, Wednesday and Friday from 8:30 a.m. until 4 p.m. and on Tuesday and Thursday by appointment only.

Treatment may be received at the Will McGaughey Health Center from 8 a.m. until 8 p.m. Monday through Friday, and from 9 a.m. until 1 p.m. each Saturday.

The mayors reminded young people that, under Illinois law, a person under 21 may be treated for venereal disease without having his or her parents notified.

The only exception is if the patient is under 12 years of age.

New approach on teacher training

A decentralization in the office of teacher education at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville is expected to provide closer communication between coordinators and various departments, according to S. Joseph Gore, assistant dean for undergraduate programs in the SIUE School of Education.

Gore said the reorganization involved the reassignment of people who did the coordinating in the office of teacher education to the various departments in the school of education, particularly in the elementary, secondary and special education departments.

"The result is that the coordination will come from the departments themselves instead of the office of teacher education," Gore said. "Basically, the same persons will be handling the responsibilities, but they will be reporting directly to the department chairmen."

Asked about the effect on students, Gore said, "It means we will be able to facilitate communication in regard to the coordination of student teaching and the screening and placement of student teachers in the various public schools, and the assignment of university supervisors. Under the old system, there was some tendency for communication to be complicated. Otherwise, as far as the students are concerned, the procedures will be pretty much the same."

"All the criteria remain the same, and for the most part, the personnel will be the same. In fact, some of the screening for student teaching will be located in the office of teacher education. It's simply a different reporting system, with the coordinators working closely with the departments," Gore said.

John E. Forbets, who was the acting director of the office of teacher education, has been placed in charge of extension operations and other off-campus programs for the School of Education.

Twelve Granite City youths in the Madison County summer youth employment program will begin cleanup operations Tuesday morning on Chouteau Island.

They will assist flood victims in restoring property in the area. Additional youths will be added to the project, according to Paul Hawkins, county sanitation officer.

Kinder again heads health center board

Officers of the Quad-City Mental Health Board of Directors began new terms at a meeting Thursday night.

They are: William Kinder, president; Wade James, new vice-president; Mrs. Evelyn Leeper, secretary; and Mrs. Ruth Lamb, former vice-president, treasurer.

It was decided to reduce the size of the board from 18 to 15. Reorganization of the board of directors, which listed the press of business and family responsibilities, was accepted.

The board approved pay increases of 4 to 7 1/2 percent, including a 3 percent cost of living adjustment for about 20 employees at the Quad-City Mental Health Center and the day hospital.

A report was made of a new salary schedule which is being developed, and there were progress reports by directors.

State election, education boards, no-fault insurance among achievements of the General Assembly this year

As is always the case with six-month General Assembly deliberations, there was some good news and some bad news by the time the dust of the legislative battles had settled at Springfield.

On the plus side, the Assembly created a statewide board to regulate election practices and another board to oversee elementary and secondary education. A sales tax reduction was voted, and a property tax freeze and state-operated lottery were avoided.

Anti-crime efforts included banning of "Saturday night special" handguns and enactment of death penalty bills intended to discourage murder.

Auto accident claims are to be paid promptly without regard to fault; no restriction is being placed on the ability to sue for related pain and suffering. On the negative side, there was excessive friction between the governor and legislative leaders. Partly because of this, the end-of-the-session logjam was as bad or worse than most of them in our recollection.

Campaign finance disclosure legislation failed, and the Assembly acted to end non-political retention of judges, subject to a November 1974 referendum. A statewide grand jury plan failed by a narrow margin. Perhaps the accomplishments so far seem less because there had been such high hopes for the legislators, who are highly paid, now meet annually and include many new faces in their midst. But it may be premature to reach a final judgement; there is much more to be done this fall and next spring.

Plan for performing arts center deserves wide support

An unfortunate casualty of the spring legislative session which ended last week was the proposal for an exposition hall and performing arts center in Madison St. Clair County. It again was delayed due to insufficient backing from other sections of Illinois.

The concept developed by State Senator Sam Vadala of this district remains valid and ought to be given favorable consideration. The center involves no property, sales or income taxes and could generate substantial economic activity, bolstering the tax base and the general level of prosperity in this region.

Our state government utilized part of its revenue from horse race tracks to build huge McCormick Place in Chicago, the No. 1 population center of Illinois.

Similar but smaller facilities could be provided in this, the No. 2 concentration of population in the state, through a $35 million bond issue backed up by track proceeds.

The No. 3, 4 and 5 areas also could be aided, in turn, without undue diversion of the racing funds from the other beneficiary, county fairs.

Because all areas of the state deserve to be treated in principle the same as Chicago, other Downstate communities and their legislators would be fully justified in rallying behind the Vadala bill.

Airport delay adds nothing to administration's image

Justice too long delayed is justice denied.

Delay in Washington has become the pattern of months and now years for the immensely sound and urgently needed program to develop a major new metropolitan airport at Columbia-Waterloo, Ill.

The inaction would have been a severe disappointment even if such names as Krogh and Ehrlichman of Watergate notoriety had not gotten entangled in the discussions and excuses and contradictions associated with the airport planning.

It would be a refreshing breeze if the federal government, at long last, got up off its ponderous bureaucracy, put political pressures aside and did what it had it ought to do regarding the airport.

But, then there haven't been many refreshing breezes from the White House lately, have there?

Name and address must accompany each letter but will not be printed. Letters are accepted for publication on the condition that they are not to be used more than once.

LIBRARY HELPFUL BUT NEEDS MORE FICTION

To the Editor:

I wish to compliment the Granite City Public Library for its efficiency, courteousness and helpfulness of the staff.

They perform in a truly professional manner in carrying out their duties. We have both a staff and a library we can be proud of.

However, I am more than disillusioned with the selection of new books offered for circulation. There appears to be a preponderance of autobiographies, science fiction and young adult stories with a noticeable dearth of new fiction.

Whoever is selecting the books for the library is discriminating against a great section of the reading public—the fiction reader.

There are those of us who delight in excellent fiction for pure enjoyment, but of late our enjoyment has been severely curtailed by the fact that we cannot believe no new fiction is being written.

I fully realize the library has limited funds with which to purchase new books but may I suggest that, in view of the budget and in the interest of fairness to all users of the library, equalization of funding should provide the necessary money to purchase new fiction.

For every autobiography or non-fiction book purchased, a fiction book should be purchased.

The area of the library utilized for shelving the Lewis and Clark Circulating Section should be enlarged to provide necessary space for new fiction or the present space should be equally allotted to both fiction and non-fiction.

I realize some of the non-fiction books read the fiction but they are not fiction. I have had my fill of non-fiction during my school years, now I prefer to relax with a good story. Fiction reads need a fair share of the library expenditures.

AREA FORTUNATE TO HAVE TRAUMA CENTER

To the Editor:

I want to take this opportunity to tell the people of the Tri-Cities area how fortunate we are to have the very efficient Trauma Center-Emergency Room facilities at St. Elizabeth Hospital in Granite City.

I am a lifelong resident of Madison and through the years have heard several adverse comments about the hospital.

I do believe it was run as efficiently as was possible with the facilities the staff had to work with through the years, but now that it is a designated Trauma Center, I am sure it must rank with the very best in the St. Louis area.

On Wednesday night, June 13, I had occasion to go to the Trauma Center in quite a hurry when my husband was suddenly stricken ill.

Before we got clear of the automatic doors, people were there to take charge, and I had not called in advance that we were coming.

Before being transferred to Barnes Hospital the next day, where my husband passed away in the Intensive Care Coronary Unit, my husband, as sick as he was, commented to us on the wonderful people and excellent care he received at St. Elizabeth Hospital.

I wish to thank anyone concerned at St. Elizabeth Hospital for doing all they could so quickly and efficiently and tell the people in the area that we have the Trauma Center so conveniently located for our use.

Precedents in Madison case cited

Legal precedents affecting enrollment distribution in Madison District No. 12 were cited as follows last month by the late Circuit Judge J.O. Monroe Jr. in his Amendment of the U.S. Constitution.

"No state shall... deny any person within its jurisdiction the equal protection of the laws." (1867)

"Plessy v. Ferguson" ruling by the U.S. Supreme Court in 1896. The argument assumes that social prejudices may be overcome by legislation, and that equal rights cannot be secured to the Negro except by an enforced commingling of the two races. We cannot accept this proposition.

"If the two races are to meet on terms of social equality, it must be the result of natural affinities, a mutual appreciation of each other's merits and a voluntary consent of individuals."

"This end can neither be accomplished nor promoted by laws which consist with the general sentiment of the community upon whom they are designed to operate."

"When the government, therefore, has secured to each of its citizens equal rights before the law and equal opportunities for improvement and progress, it has accomplished the end for which it is organized and performed all of the functions respecting social advantages with which it is endowed."

Decided by Justice Harlan the elder in the 1896 Plessy decision.

"The best of the freedom enjoyed by our people above all other people."

"But it is difficult to reconcile that boast with the state of the law which, practically, puts the brand of servitude and degradation upon a large class of our fellow citizens, our equals before the law. The thin disguise of 'equal' accommodations for passengers in railroad coaches will not mislead anyone, or atone for the wrong this day done."

Brown v. Board ruling by U.S. Supreme Court in 1954.

"We must consider public education in the light of its full development and its present condition in American life throughout the nation."

"Only in this way can it be determined if segregation in public schools deprives these plaintiffs of the equal protection of the laws."

"Education is, perhaps, the most important function of state and local governments... the very foundation of good citizenship."

"It is a principal instrument in awakening the child to cultural values, in preparing him for later professional training, and in helping him to adjust normally to his environment."

"It is doubtful that any child may reasonably be expected to grow up in this society with the opportunity of an education... a right which must be made available to all on equal terms."

"Does segregation of children in public schools solely on the basis of race—even though the physical facilities and other tangible factors may be equal—deprive the children of the minority group of equal educational opportunities? We believe that it does."

"To separate them from others of similar age and qualifications solely because of their race generates a feeling of inferiority as to their status in the community that may affect their hearts and minds in a way unlikely ever to be undone."

"The policy of separating the races in the public schools is denying the inferiority of the Negro group. A sense of inferiority affects the motivation of a child to learn."

"Segregation with the sanction of law, therefore, has a tendency to retard the educational and mental development of Negro children and to deprive them of some of the benefits they would receive in a racially integrated school system."

"In the field of public education the doctrine of 'separate but equal' has no place. Separate educational facilities are inherently unequal."

Mr. J. Gary decision in 1963: "Area neighborhood assignments were consistent and non-discriminatory."

"An adequate remedy would have required transportation, presumably by bus, of 4,000 students on the day in the Gary, Ind., area cut by three U.S. highways, nine railroads with grade crossings, and one river infrequently bridged.

"Eliminating neighborhood segregation was denied in the ground that the right to be integrated in school is not such an overriding purpose that little, if any, consideration need be given to the safety of children, convenience of pupils and their parents, and costs of the operation of the school system."

"There is no affirmative U.S. Constitutional duty to change innocently-acquired school attendance districts by the mere fact that shifts in population either increase or decrease the percentage of either Negro or white pupils."

Hobson v. Hansen in 1967, dealing with "scores of factors" of the implementation problem.

"When Hobson was appealed, the court of appeals simply reasserted that segregation as a proper remedy, this time for overcrowding, and held that such relief could fairly be required of 'scores of factors' of the implementation problem."

U.S. v. District 131 ruling by Seventh U.S. Circuit Court in Chicago in 1968:

"The Madison school enrollment of 2,330 is composed of 1,168 white and 1,235 black children. The division is identical, 194-194, among seventh and eighth graders, who attend Madison Junior High."

It is almost identical, 333 white and 336 black, at Madison High School (grades 9-12). Similar statistical breakdowns among fourth, fifth and sixth graders are 276-276 at Louis Baer School and 634-634 at Dunbar.

The kindergarten and the first, second and third grades, the white-black proportions are 373-397 at Harris School and 630-630 at Blair School.

The Board of Education has voted to close Dunbar School, to assign fifth and sixth graders to Louis Baer and to designate Harris and Blair as "free choice" attendance centers for all younger students.

"The court's traditional equity powers are broad and flexible enough to give it any remedy it deems proper."

This is the conclusion of the late Circuit Judge James O. Monroe Jr. in an order filed June 5, two days before his death in an automobile accident.

His ruling is being appealed by the school system, which meanwhile has further revamped its student assignment procedures.

The judge cited a state education expert's report that busing has no substantial effect on school achievement of students, on those based or not based. Integration likewise has no such effect, the judge noted.

School achievement is said to be affected primarily by the child's intelligence, by his family background, and by his social and economic circumstances.

"Change—mere change, apart from busing or integration—causes a slight improvement in school achievement," Judge Monroe wrote in the opinion.

"Over time, it has been long known that good facilities, curriculum and faculty and good friendly competition among his own race may do well in achievement."

"Move him to a school of equal quality in all these respects and of the same race—but to a new school, new facilities, a new desk or locker—in college a new dormitory and now freshmen classmates, new classmates."

"The neighborhood style of desegregation no longer can be viewed as per se constitutional."

"It is clear, therefore, that in carrying out a busing plan to achieve racial balance—no clearly approved by Swann—some white children must be moved out of the school of their families' longtime neighborhood, solely because they are Negro."

"Alleviate, it may be that some Negro children will be compelled to give up attendance at the school of their family and prefer to remain."

"If the white-don't want it, and the blacks don't want it, why do we have to have it?"

The answer is the U.S. Constitution of the United States."

Bredley v. Board in 1972: "Relief was sought to form a single new district from three large school districts at Richmond, Va."

"A court of appeals decision against such relief was left standing by an equal division in the Supreme Court" on May 21, 1973.

"You mean you're disillusioned with politics, taxes, crime and shortages, too?"

Monroe ruling

"There is segregation in the Madison school district of a sort which requires relief and can be reached by a standard and reasonable remedy."

This is the conclusion of the late Circuit Judge James O. Monroe Jr. in an order filed June 5, two days before his death in an automobile accident.

His ruling is being appealed by the school system, which meanwhile has further revamped its student assignment procedures.

The judge cited a state education expert's report that busing has no substantial effect on school achievement of students, on those based or not based. Integration likewise has no such effect, the judge noted.

new class arrangements and schedules, new curricular detail and textbooks, new teachers—in short, new educational ingredients as good as, perhaps even better than, before but strange—and his grades may, for one semester only, decline."

"Second, competition has an effect on achievement."

"It has long been fruitless to remark on the uniqueness of school systems that function in minimal self-standards; in short, new educational ingredients in the mind, but on the most challenging sorts of competition in athletic matters of the spirit."

"Competition is one of the types of social circumstances stressed as vital."

"It was a significant matter in the testimony of one black mother who put it with poignant simplicity: in the all-black school, 'There's no competition.'"

"On the facts, racial segregation in the Madison schools can be described with substantial accuracy and precision, without equivocation or emotion and with neither rationalization nor outrage."

"Over time, it has been long known that good facilities, curriculum and faculty and good friendly competition among his own race may do well in achievement."

"Move him to a school of equal quality in all these respects and of the same race—but to a new school, new facilities, a new desk or locker—in college a new dormitory and now freshmen classmates, new classmates."

"A court of appeals decision against such relief was left standing by an equal division in the Supreme Court" on May 21, 1973.

"Its purported justifications are largely emotional and political."

"Admixture and shifts in arguments from substance to possible remedies confuse issues and change an unpleasant subject."

"The word 'busing' is a word which has become charged with emotion. It can, however, be viewed objectively."

"Busing is a state required and universally accepted aspect of school administration throughout America, implemented by law in Illinois for both public and private schools."

"It is a standard remedy utilized in court-ordered desegregation."

"This school district has bused for years to implement segregation. It busses pupils now for simple convenience apart from race. It can bus now for simple convenience."

"The amount required for that purpose is trivial; one feasible plan calls for busing 16 children. Others could be added for safety considerations."

"If the district already busses, expense may not be a significant factor," Judge Monroe wrote.

"Traffic problems for these children who with appear manageable, with an efficient police force, traffic control devices and school cooperation."

"From the court, this case has had the utmost consideration and concern."

"From the parties, it now calls for fairness, understanding and patience."

New legislation

Whether a newly-passed state bill would affect the Madison school system if signed by the governor, is uncertain.

The legislation would remove power of the state superintendent of public instruction to order busing of school children solely to achieve racial balance.

District No. 12 is under court order to balance its enrollments, utilizing busing if necessary.

Originally sponsored in the Senate by Sen. Don A. Moore (R, Midwestern), the bill was passed by the House 100-47 on June 29, with Rep Robert Walters (R, Alton) voting for it and Rep. Leland Kennedy (D, Alton) opposed.

The House sponsor, Rep. William Maher (R, Homewood), said all parents in his district oppose forced busing.

He added, "Instead of spending thousands of dollars to bus little children miles from their homes, we should be spending money improving neighborhood schools."

Rep. Joseph Lundy (D, Chicago) and other opponents of the bill said it is "clearly unconstitutional" because of several U.S. Supreme Court decisions, including one in late June upholding the use of busing to achieve Denver school integration.

A group of representatives called busing a useful tool in obtaining better schools for all and said the Moore bill was motivated by racism.

Disagreeing, Rep. Harry Yourell (D, Oak Lawn), said a voluntary program of busing in the opposite directions "failed miserably and caused great distress among the children who wanted to go to school with their own friends from their own neighborhoods."

The new bill, if signed, would alter the 10-year-old Armstrong law.

Sponsored by former Rep. Charles Armstrong (D, Chicago), that law gives the state superintendent power to withhold funds from non-complying districts.

Rep. Lundy warned that the Moore bill might mandate the state superintendent to defy court orders for integration requiring busing.

Legislators favoring the bill said redrawing of boundaries and other measures could be used to achieve racial balance, rather than busing. 7-11-73

In praise of the oriole

By AL KIRKLAND
Copy News Service

Two long-time residents of the midwestern wildlife community have been observed more frequently this year than any previous year in my memory—at least in my yard and neighboring area.

The Baltimore oriole and gray squirrel are fascinating to watch, both with and without binoculars.

The oriole is neighborly, loves to sing and is always in excellent voice. The male is also somewhat of a dude with black, white and glowing orange plumage. His range extends from southern states to the Canadian provinces and west to the Rockies. He winters in central and northern South America. The oriole likes to be near people—on farm and along farm roads, in city parks and trees on residential lawns. Only rarely is he found in deep woodlands.

The Baltimore is a member of the blackbird family and considerably larger than cousin orchard oriole. Also the blackbird plumage of the oriole contrasts the Baltimore's bright orange. Females and young of both varieties have less spectacular plumage and are difficult to tell apart. Both stay close to the male at all times.

The female oriole is a master nest-builder, unsurpassed in the songbird world. Her low-slung, hanging bag-like nest is woven with fine grasses, white yarn (if available), horsehair and similar ingredients. She builds from the top of the nest down, diligently and painstakingly. In spite of its delicate appearance, swaying from the end of a high branch or twig in a large elm or maple, the nest survives even the most violent thunderstorms with no strain or visible damage.

If an oriole selects one of the trees in your yard for its wonderful nest, you will soon learn that these birds thoroughly enjoy the company of both man and animal. He will be the least bit afraid of either. While diet does include some fruit, they more than make up for it by getting on such pests as caterpillars, grasshoppers, plant lice, and a variety of other insects.

This bright little bird, with the beautiful voice raises only one brood per year. Four or five white eggs flecked with typical black and brown spots are laid. The birds are usually blackbirds markings hatch in about two weeks into noisy young orioles. Frequently it is the time when humans first discover the carefully concealed nest.

The gray squirrel (Sciurus carolinensis) thrives throughout the United States and Canadian provinces and, while origin is not known for certain, it was here long before the first white man and has been a popular and abundant game animal for American hunters over several centuries.

Gray squirrels have been particularly abundant in my yard this year, and friends who share our interest in wildlife likewise report large populations.

We have observed that gray squirrels, though smaller, are quicker, faster and more feisty than the rest of the squirrel population—and while we have never seen physical contact, grays stand their ground and chase others off when there is a confrontation.

Sciurus carolinensis weigh approximately one pound and average 19 inches in length, about half of which is tail. Overall coloration is pepper-and-salt gray, underparts are lead color and longer guard hairs are frequently white-tipped, black in the neck and back.

First litters, ranging up to six, are produced in March and early April in nests usually built in hollow limbs or tree trunks. Second litters, in about late July, are customarily housed in tree forks. Young cannot see until five weeks after birth and grow to adulthood in 10 to 15 years. Mated life span is 15 years.

Kidney transplants offer a chance for normal life

Editor's Note: This is the first of two stories on the medical miracles available for kidney patients at Springfield's Memorial Hospital.

By CAROL CARSTENS

SPRINGFIELD — Today's medical miracle will be tomorrow's routine hospital procedure.

Kidney transplants have become a routine operation at large medical centers and will become "routinable" routine at Memorial Hospital here in the future, according to Dr. Richard Bilinsky, head of the kidney disease treatment center.

The staff and facilities were ready at Memorial July 1, when federal funds became available to pay the costs for the operations.

Kidney transplants were first performed at Memorial in 1951. However, transplants there have been few and far from routine.

The transplant program has a solid base in the kidney disease treatment center initiated at Memorial Hospital in 1948.

Kidney failure used to be a fatal blow to the body. When the kidneys ceased to operate, the body no longer was cleansed of wastes thrown off by its various processes and the body poisoned itself.

With the invention of the artificial kidney machine there was a way of cleansing the body of wastes and keeping the patient alive and comfortable.

Patients are referred to Memorial's renal dialysis center by their physicians when it is suspected their kidneys are operating well below normal. Following tests and examination, the patients may be put in the renal dialysis program.

Now some of these patients, however, have another chance for a normal life and independent of the machines by transplantation of a normal kidney taken from a close relative or from a person who has died from some cause not affecting his kidneys.

"I was one of the lucky ones," said Paul McGary of Pawnee, who was an early kidney transplant patient at Memorial Hospital.

"I was eating supper when the doctor called," McGary remembers of that day in March, 1951, when a kidney became available for the transplant operation.

"Twenty minutes later I was sitting in the hospital." Forty-five minutes later he was in surgery.

"I was doggone sick," McGary said. "Today he is living a life that is normal in most respects. He takes medicine daily so his body will continue to accept the kidney and he visits the doctor every two weeks to be sure the kidney is operating properly. This routine will continue for the rest of his life."

One of a story is one specialist at Memorial Hospital hope will be repeated often now that the transplant program started there again July 1, with federal funds now available to pay most of the costs of the expensive operation.

Dr. Alan Birch, director of transplants at Memorial, estimates the cost of a transplant will be $100 to $150.

Birch came here from Bent Brigham Hospital, Boston, Mass., where he was director of the transplant program. He also is on the staff of the School of Medicine faculty.

Birch, who estimates he has performed more than 130 transplants, predicts there will be 25 to 30 transplants at Memorial when the program is operating fully.

The most successful transplants are those made between close relatives, when the donor is a parent, brother or sister of the patient. However, some have been taken from persons who have died of injuries or illness unrelated to

If you have an adventure spirit, and a stomach that enjoys a roller coaster ride, the new options market is indeed an exciting place to be.

Q. I am interested in investing some money in securities. But, I know virtually nothing about the stock market at all. How does the stock market work? H.C., Pasadena, Calif.

A. That's a tall order in one short column. Basically, the stock market is divided into three major markets, the New York Stock Exchange, the American Stock Exchange and the over-the-counter market. The first two are auction markets. The over-the-counter market is a negotiated market. You in Pasadena, for example, wish to purchase 100 shares of XYZ stock listed on the New York Stock Exchange. A man in Atlanta, Ga., wishes to sell 100 shares of XYZ stock. Both of you make those requests known to your broker. A ticket to buy or sell is written and transmitted by wire to the floor of the exchange. The brokerage firm's representatives go to the post (place where XYZ is traded) and make their requests known; the bid and offer prices are quoted, and each representative carries out the respective order which he has received from the brokerage offices—here one in Pasadena, and the one in Atlanta. When the tickets are executed, the results are wired back to the broker's office. Your broker calls the kidneys, also are used. The public must be made aware that "out of this tragic event of death something good could happen by donation of a kidney." Dr. Richard Bilinsky, head of the Memorial Hospital renal unit, commented recently.

Bilinsky and Birch hope soon to have a machine that will preserve a kidney for up to 24 hours. Without the machine a kidney must be transplanted within four to eight hours if it is to be saved.

The resultant risk to make the transplant means precise selection of a recipient isn't always possible. The kidney must be placed in a body of similar tissue type in order to survive.

Kidney transplant patients often aren't as fortunate as McGary. Forty to forty-five per cent of the transplanted cadaver kidneys are rejected, according to Birch.

One of the young men, Stephen Letner of Virden has had two transplants, both of them failures. Letner, now 25 years old, came here from Charleston and underwent his first transplant at Memorial in January, 1951.

His father was the donor of the kidney, but Letner's body wouldn't accept it and the surgeons removed it after a week's trial.

A few months later a cadaver kidney became available and Letner underwent surgery again.

"It didn't work at all," Letner said. "They took it out two hours after they put it in." Even with two failures Letner would try again.

Now Letner is back on the artificial kidney machine, sitting by it six hours a day, three days a week while it cleanses his bloodstream and sustains him. That has been his way of life for five of his 25 years.

Next: Some kidney patients' lives depend on machine.

and tells you the execution price and how much money you have to pay for your purchase. The money is due within five business days. You may leave your stock with the brokerage house or have the certificates transferred to you. That generally takes about three weeks. The over-the-counter market after the stock price is negotiated, the followup procedures are similar to those of a listed stock. If any other of my readers would like a copy, please write me in care of this newspaper.

Q. What are the criteria I should use when I think about buying or selling a particular stock?—P.V., Hinsdale, Ill.

A. First of all, you should know something about the company, its management, its financial condition, its market making money? What are the company's future prospects? What kind of debt does the company have? Obtaining a form of information is, of course, a kind of research. The results of stock market research should be made available through the brokerage house with which you deal. When you obtain your answers from your broker, or do your own research, do not simply rely on tips. If you hear a tip in the market, 90 times out of 100, they do not work out.

MEDICAL MIRACLE Some kidney patients' lives depend on machine

Editor's Note: This is the second of two stories on the medical miracles available for kidney patients at Springfield's Memorial Hospital.

SPRINGFIELD — What is it like to depend on a machine for life?

Renal dialysis patients carry a constant reminder of their dependence on the artificial kidney machine. Either they have a "shunt," a plastic tube imbedded in an arm to which the machine is connected, or they have a "fistula," an artificially enlarged vein in which needles may be inserted to provide the connection. The tube must be covered with a bandage when it's not in use.

Most of them get on with their lives as well as they can, trying to live as normally as possible.

"The first two years I was on the machine I still played tennis," the young woman said cheerfully.

"I couldn't go swimming then because I had a shunt," she continued, "but once I got my fistula my husband and I could go swimming and camping. I think one of the best things about the fact that you're completely changing someone's life-style and making them dependent on a machine that they live with is that most of the patients adjust as well as they do." Bilinsky commented.

The elderly adjust quite well, because the machine cleanses their system of impurities, they begin to feel much better, and are able to return to more normal lives.

cial kidney machines maintained the more abrupt is the change," Bilinsky said, "and these people have a little harder time adjusting."

Bilinsky believes the sooner he can get dialysis started, the sooner the patient recovers his sense of well-being and he can resume his normal life.

However, patients on dialysis, or even those who have had successful kidney transplants, sometimes find they aren't welcome as employees, Bilinsky reports. Employers think they will be ill too often.

Rules and regulations of health insurance companies and state funded assistance programs often make it difficult for these people to work part time, as some of them could. If they don't work they aren't eligible for the funds these programs supply and which they so much need, according to Bilinsky.

"I think there are few conditions where you can affect so great a change," Dr. Richard Bilinsky, head of the Memorial Hospital renal unit, said in discussing his patients. Once the artificial kidney machine has cleansed their system of impurities, they begin to feel much better, and are able to return to more normal lives.

"When you look at the fact that you're completely changing someone's life-style and making them dependent on a machine that they live with is that most of the patients adjust as well as they do," Bilinsky commented.

state and we moved to Louisville," Mrs. Reid said.

The next spring Memorial Hospital opened its dialysis unit and the Reids were able to move back to Illinois. He is once again employed as a case worker by the state.

Mrs. Reid started dialysis after a long period of being very ill. "So for the first six months even being on the machine wasn't that depressing because I was just glad to be alive and know there was something that would take care of it and know my children would have a mother," she said.

However, depression set in as the years passed and she knew the only alternative to the sessions with the machine was "a miracle from God or a transplant."

Mrs. Jeanette Akers of 325 Cleveland Ave., was told when she was 13 that her kidneys had been damaged by diabetes. For many years she was able to keep her kidneys operating by sticking to a strict diet. However, her kidneys gradually functioned less and less and five years ago she began dialysis. She said she was depressed when she began treatment.

"I'm not enthused about a transplant because I get along real well on dialysis," Mrs. Akers commented recently. She explained she has no brothers or sisters who might be donors.

"I have two children at home and I just don't want to leave them," she said. Someday, when more of the problems of transplants are worked out, she may be interested.

Mrs. Reid also says she isn't anxious for a transplant. She explained the first local transplant operation was for those persons who don't do well on the dialysis program. "And I get along great," she added.

Both women are taking part in an experiment in which the artificial kidney machines are used to see if they have to stay attached to them only for three hours instead of the more usual six hours.

When Barbara Reid first became ill in 1967 the state program hadn't begun. She and her husband were living in Quincy where he was employed by the state.

Her physician made arrangements for her to receive treatments in Louisville, Ky., where there was an experimental program. She began treatment in October, 1967. "My husband quit his job with the state and we moved to Louisville," Mrs. Reid said.

State guardian to 25,000

Instead of just one official guardian or "papa" for the more than 25,000 children under care of the Illinois Department of Children and Family Services, there will soon be 14.

Jerome G. Miller, department director, said 13 staff members are being deployed throughout the state to serve as assistant guardians.

By law, department guardianship authority is vested solely in a guardianship administrator, now Richard S. Layman.

He is responsible for making significant decisions affecting the life of each child — granting or withholding consent on marriage, enlistment in the armed forces, adoption, custody arrangements, legal representation, receipt of financial benefits and major medical or psychiatric treatment.

However, both Miller and Layman agree that no single person, working on advice from department consultants, can fulfill the guardianship role of looking after such a large "family."

Under the new arrangement, Miller said, Layman will retain ultimate responsibility and accountability but will delegate day-to-day functions to his assistants. They will be located in eight strategic areas of the state.

Miller continued: "These 13 assistant guardians are likely to be veteran employees. Following intensive training, the guardian will fulfill an advocacy role in behalf of the child, and not merely rubber stamp decisions of field personnel."

"They will keep Layman informed of all major actions relating to a child's welfare, but only matters of a most serious or sensitive nature, will be referred to him for final action."

Five assistant guardians will be located in Cook County and one each in Aurora, Rockford, Peoria, Springfield, Champaign, East St. Louis and Marion.

This plan reflects the concentration of department wards in various areas of the state and establishes a ratio of one assistant guardian to 2,000 children.

Miller emphasized that each assistant guardian will be on call 24 hours a day, as are Layman and his first assistant, Carolyn Schaefer.

According to Miller, Illinois is the only state which has centralized guardianship responsibility for dependent and neglected youngsters committed by the courts to the state child welfare agency or accepted for care at the voluntary request of parents.

"The chief benefit of such a system," Miller noted, "is that certain major decisions based on the best interests of the child will be the same whether the youngster lives in Chicago or Cairo."

"To be a real advocate for a child and to act in his best interests, however, demands familiarity with the child's needs and accessibility to those who are providing his day-to-day care."

"That is what we will accomplish through decentralization of guardianship."

Lawyer referral service is busy

Make a note of this number: 800-525-8916.

During the next 12 months, 3,000 Illinois residents are expected to make a toll-free long distance call to that number to be connected with Lawyer Referral Service of the Illinois State Bar Association at its headquarters in Springfield.

You could be one of the callers, the ISBA says, if you encounter a legal problem, do not presently have an attorney or know one, and would like to be put in touch with a lawyer in your own or neighboring community for a low-cost no-obligation interview.

According to the ISBA, the Service has been a resounding success ever since it was instituted in 1970 as one means of encouraging people to consult early with an attorney, before serious legal complications develop. It is not a legal aid service for the poor but is intended for those who need legal advice and can afford reasonable charges.

During the 12 months ended last May 31, the Service put some 2,800 callers in touch with attorneys who participate in the program and who pay a fee which helps maintain the Service.

It presently serves approximately 70 of the 102 Illinois counties — including Madison County.

The Chicago Bar Association, and Champaign, Peoria, DuPage, Wabash and Winnebago County Bar Associations provide a similar lawyer referral service for local residents.

All conversations with the Lawyer Referral Service and with participating attorneys are kept in the strictest confidence, the ISBA said, in accordance with the lawyers' Code of Professional Responsibility concerning communications from clients or prospective clients.

All types of legal problems are handled. Many calls, the ISBA says, concern family problems — divorce, separation and child support — but the inquiries run the gamut of the law, including probate matters, real estate, traffic violations and crime.

A caller is asked to state his name, address and telephone number and to describe the legal problem. He is then given the name, address and telephone number of a lawyer in his community, or near it, who can advise him on the legal question.

It is up to the inquirer to call the attorney for an appointment. A half-hour interview costs only $10 and there is no obligation to retain the lawyer's services beyond that, although most people do engage the lawyer for further representation or consultation.

Pre-adolescents topic

Parents of 9-to-14-year-olds discuss coping with the adolescent, "that phase when the nicest children begin to behave in the most awful ways," on two programs in the PBS series, "How Do Your Children Grow?" Part I, "Child, Grown-up," neither.

Part II, "Child, Grown-up," neither. The programs are scheduled for 7:30 p.m. and 8:30 p.m. on Channel 9. Part II airs July 27 at 2:30 p.m. and 7:30 p.m. Both programs are hosted by parent-educator Eda LeShan.

Characterizing pre-adolescence as a period of great physiological and psychological change, Miss LeShan and her guests agree that this is a most important time of experimentation for youngsters in this age bracket — a period during which the child is accepting some things, rejecting others, in his effort to develop an adult personality.

The parents exchange stories about their children's outrageous behavior during this time when they are straddling the threshold of childhood and adulthood. Citing a psychologist who describes the period as one of "disorganization," Miss LeShan reminds parents that the child's quest for parental approval is sorely pitted against a wish for the approval of his own peers.

The effect of this dilemma is sympathetically evaluated by Miss LeShan and her guests. They also emphasize that approval of some kind is certainly very important to the pre-adolescent.

A paperback copy of "How Do Your Children Grow?" is available to Channel 9 members for $3 from request to: KSTU-TV, one Milwaukee Blvd., St. Louis, Mo. 63130.

Limits on science

"Where am I? Why am I here? What am I doing? These are questions science never will answer because we are reaching our limitations," Dr. Thomas Layloff, professor of Chemistry at St. Louis University, told the Breakfast Kiwanis Club meeting Thursday a Temple's Smorgasbord.

Dr. Layloff related an example of the limitations of science. "If we could travel 10 percent the speed of light or 18,000 miles per second it would take us 47 years to reach Alpha Centauri, the closest star."

"It would then take 4.7 years to transmit a message back to us, and counting another 47 years to return, we are talking about an experiment that would take 99 years to complete. This does not take into account the time getting ready for such a project."

"No one is going to finance this. We would need to travel about 60 times faster than we now are as our escape velocity now is a relatively slow 25,000 mph."

Charles Fletcher of Provo, Utah, visited the club. Fletcher is State president-elect of Kiwanis in Utah.

It was announced that a report on ticket sales for the July 15 boat races would be due at the club's July 12 meeting.

Funeral for Wren Lowry

Funeral services were held Thursday in Pittsfield, Ill., for Wren Lowry, 55, of Pittsfield, the brother of Mrs. Harold (Woodie) Lynn of Granite City.

Mr. Lowry was found dead in his bed at home last week. He had been under medical care for a heart condition several years. He was the owner and operator of the Cardinal Inn Restaurant in Pittsfield.

Surviving are Mr. Lowry's widow, Alice, a son, Michael Lowry of Fresno, Calif.; three brothers, Walton Lowry of Pittsfield, Blake Lowry of Pittsfield and Charles "Mac" Lowry of Seattle, Wash.; two sisters, Mrs. Lynn and Mrs. Terry (Hope) Hunt of West Lake, Calif.

Several Granite City residents attended the funeral with Mrs. Lynn, including Mr. and Mrs. Philip McGovern, Mrs. Phyllis Seka, Mrs. Dianne Stephens, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Cartwright, Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Padlock, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Storch, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Myers, Mrs. Alice Cruse, Mrs. Dorothy Frohardt, Mrs. Kathryn Richardson and Mrs. Lillian Compton.

Burial was in West Pittsfield Cemetery, Pittsfield.

INDECENT EXPOSURE

A Granite City girl, 13, reported Thursday that while she was walking at 27th Street and Grand Avenue on her way to high school a man in a green four-door older model auto exposed himself to her. She described him as being 6 feet tall, heavy set, with long black hair and wearing a tee shirt and blue jeans.

ID cards by park Tuesday

Granite City Park District residents may obtain identification cards from 7 to 9 p.m. Tuesday at Wilson Park rink. Those seeking the plasticized cards, enabling the holder to

File suit in fatal crash

A suit seeking $200,000 in each of three counts has been filed for Silvanus Webb, administrator of the estate of Shirley Webb, deceased, against the Norfolk & Western Railroad, James Heatherston, locomotive engineer, and Dennis Hunt, brakeman in Madison County Circuit Court.

According to the complaint, Mrs. Webb suffered fatal injuries July 2, 1973, when an auto in which she was riding was struck by an N&W train on a county road 2 1/2 miles north of its junction with Route 16, 130 feet east of Route 66, approaching the Vance grade crossing in Montgomery County.

The complaint alleges that the railroad and crewmen were negligent, that the crossing view was obstructed by foliage and other objects, that it had no adequate warning devices and that the train approached the crossing at a high rate of speed without warning.

If you've been using your air conditioning since May, you should now be changing the disposable filter for the second time.

Replacing air filters regularly during the air conditioning season is strongly recommended by experts. As filters become clogged with dirt and dust, they cut down air circulation. Your air conditioning system has to work harder and harder to meet your demands.

The result is air conditioning bills higher than necessary—and a needless waste of electric energy.

With a clean filter you'll save money, prolong the life of your air conditioner—and conserve electricity.

If you'd like detailed information on ways to save when buying or using an air conditioner, just ask at our office. Providing energy is our business. Using it wisely is everybody's business.

Pending the preparation of the definitive bonds, interim receipts or certificates in such form and with such provisions as the governing body of the municipality may determine, may be issued to the purchaser or purchasers of bonds sold pursuant to this Ordinance. The bonds and interim receipts or certificates shall be deemed to be securities and negotiable instruments within the meaning and for all purposes of the "Uniform Commercial Code."

SECTION 5: Covenants in Bonds. Any ordinance authorizing the issuance of bonds under this Ordinance may contain covenants as to (a) the use and disposition of the revenues

SECTION 9: Covenants on Bonds. Any ordinance authorizing the issuance of bonds under this Ordinance may contain covenants as to (a) the use and disposition of the revenues and receipts from the project for which the bonds are to be issued, including the creation and maintenance of reserves; (b) the issuance of other or additional bonds relating to the project or project; (c) the maintenance and repair of such project; (d) the insurance to be carried thereon and the disposition of insurance monies; (e) the appointment of any bank or trust company within or outside the State of Illinois, having the necessary trust powers as trustee for the benefit of the bondholders, paying agent, and bond registrar; (f) the investment of any funds held by such trustee; and (g) the terms and conditions upon which the holders of the bonds or any portion thereof or any trustees therefor, are entitled to the appointment of a receiver. Any ordinance authorizing the issuance of bonds under this Ordinance may provide that the principal of and interest on any bonds issued under this Ordinance shall be secured by a mortgage or indenture of trust covering such project for which the bonds are issued and may include any improvements or extensions thereafter made. Such mortgage or indenture of trust may contain such covenants and agreements to properly safeguard the bonds as may be provided for in the ordinance authorizing such bonds and as may be provided for in the ordinance. The provisions of this Ordinance and any such ordinance or ordinances and any such mortgage or indenture of trust shall contract with the holder or holders of the bonds and continue in effect until the principal of, the interest on, and the redemption premiums, if any, on the bonds so issued have been fully paid, and the duties of the municipality and its corporate authorities and officers under this Ordinance and any such mortgage or indenture of trust shall be enforceable by any bondholder or any such mortgage or indenture of trust or other appropriate suit, action or proceeding in any court of competent jurisdiction; provided the ordinance or any mortgage or indenture of trust under which the bonds are issued may provide that all such remedies and rights to enforcement may be vested in a trustee for the benefit of all the bondholders which trustee shall be subject to the control of a majority of the holders or owners of any outstanding bonds.

The value of the bonds is not dependent on or affected by the validity or regularity of any proceedings relating to the acquisition, purchase, construction, reconstruction, improvement, equipping, betterment or extension of the project for which the bonds are issued. The ordinance authorizing the bonds may contain a recital that they are issued pursuant to this Ordinance, which recital shall be conclusive evidence of their validity and of the regularity of their issuance.

SECTION 7: Lien of Bonds. All bonds issued under this Ordinance have a lien upon the revenues and receipts derived from the project for which the bonds have been issued, and the governing body may provide in the ordinance or ordinances authorizing such bonds for the issuance of additional bonds to be equally and ratably secured by a lien upon such revenues and receipts or may provide that the lien upon such revenues and receipts is subordinate.

SECTION 8: Liability for Bonds. All bonds issued under and pursuant to this Ordinance shall be limited obligations of the municipality payable solely out of the revenues and receipts derived from the project with respect to which such bonds are issued. No holder of any bonds issued under this Ordinance has the right to compel any exercise of taxing power of the municipality to pay the bonds, the interest premium, if any, thereon, and the bonds do not constitute an indebtedness of the municipality or a loan of credit thereof within the meaning of any constitutional or statutory provision. It shall be plainly stated on the face of each bond that it has been issued under the provisions of this ordinance and that it does not constitute an indebtedness of the municipality or a loan of credit thereof within the meaning of any constitutional or statutory provision.

Any such securities may be purchased at the offering or market price thereof at the time of such purchase.

SECTION 10: Exemption from Construction and Bidding Requirements for Public Buildings. The acquisition and construction of a project shall not be subject to any requirements relating to public buildings, structures, grounds, works or improvements imposed by the Illinois Revised Statutes or any other similar requirements which may be lawfully waived by this section and any requirements of competitive bidding or restriction imposed on the procedure for award of contracts for such purpose or the lease, sale or other disposition of property of the municipality is not applicable to any action taken under authority of this Ordinance.

SECTION 11: Powers Conferred as Additional and Supplemental—Limitations Imposed—Effect. The powers conferred by this Ordinance are in addition and supplemental to, and the limitations imposed by this Ordinance shall not affect, the powers conferred by any law or any other ordinance. Projects may be acquired, purchased, constructed, reconstructed, improved, bettered, equipped, extended and financed, and bonds may be issued under this Ordinance for such purposes, notwithstanding that any law or any other ordinance may provide for acquisition, purchase, construction, reconstruction, improvement, equipping, betterment, extension and financing of a like project, or the issuance of bonds for like purposes, and without regard to the requirements, restrictions, limitations or other provisions contained in any law or any other ordinance.
